

THE TRUTH ABOUT PARENTS' DIVORCE:

Research evidence is clear: parents' competition and conflict hurts children.

Living in two homes does not end parents' responsibility to cooperate.

Every parent can learn how to be a responsible, cordial co-parent.

Children deserve a divorce that places their welfare first.

Children benefit when a parent respects and supports the child's relationship with the other parent.

When parents cooperate and communicate, children are the winners!!!

About Parents' Turn:

A three-week, 7.5 hour workshop to learn to co-parent effectively.

Workshops are scheduled often, and in many county locations.

Group size is limited -- early registration is encouraged.

Parents achieve a divorce that minimizes conflict.

Parents' Turn tuition is affordable, sliding scale based on household income - and is an investment in peace.

Parents' class interaction promotes new thinking and practices to eliminate the stress of parenting in two homes.

Classes combine lecture, video, group discussions, humor and classroom exercises.

Call: 760-436-3039

Questions/Answers

Q: Why should I participate?

A: To assure a peaceful divorce for you and your child. You will cope better with all the legal, economic and emotional issues.

Q: What will I learn?

A: You will learn how to do the emotional and practical work of co-parenting. Proven ideas and skills are taught to promote peaceful solutions.

Q: Are both parents in the same class?

A: No. Mom and Dad attend separate workshops to promote open and honest communication. Current mates or grandparents are welcome to attend with each parent.

www.parentsturn.org

